

How to make a Two-Tab Cause and Effect Book Foldable®*

1. Fold a piece of (4 ¼" x 5 ½") paper in half vertically (like a hotdog).

2. Fold it in half again horizontally (like a hamburger).

3. Unfold the paper (just once so that it is still folded in half) and cut up the valley (along the edge of the paper at the center where you can see the crease) to the mountain top.

4. Example:

Write the words Cause and Effect on the outside of the two tabs. On the inside under the word, write what caused the conflict or problem, and what the effect of the conflict or problem was on the characters. (see below)
